FEBRUARY 2014

WHAT'S GOING ON? Well, the answer is not much. The winter Es season seems to have fizzled out. I know of only two openings this winter where the MUFs reached the FM band, and those lasted just a few minutes and were gone. There were a few on 6 meters, and back in the analog days I know someone would have seen some DX on ch2 and 3, but now with lowband deserted except for a hand full of digitals, I saw no reports, so either the MUFs never made 55-61mhz or nobody bothered to look.

As far as tropo, the polar vortex paid a visit in early January followed by a few warmer days in the middle of the month, after which the polar vortex returned once more with daytime temperatures in the single numbers or worse. This meant no chance for tropo.

Ryan Donaldson in Brisbane, Australia reported that Australia's summer skip season has been terrible. I hope that's not a bad omen for us in North America for our upcoming summer season. Last years's season was no prize at all and another poor season will be very hard to swallow.

MEMBERS AND MORE We have one new member this month and he's from the Denver area. WTFDA welcomes Gil Torbeck to the club. Gil is new to FM DXing, although he is not new to DXing itself. I know he has questions about FM Dxing and I hope we can answer those questions.

Renewals arrived this month from Janes Niven (TX), Girard Westerberg (KY), Charles Gauthier (QC), Russ Edmunds (NJ), John Jefferson (now in OR), Brian May (CT), Chris Lucas (NY), Barry Bauer (DE), Bill Swiger (WV), Rod Thompson (CA)(5 years!), David Wurl (WI), John Zeis (PA), Cal Glover (NC), Craig Healy (RI) and Kaimbridge on the north shore of Massachewsetts. Thank you all for supporting the WTFDA.

There's not much going on this month. The WTFDA logger at http://wtfdadxbb.vci.net just shows a few MS loggings from Dave Nieman and Jeff Falconer. In January Jeff reached a personal first when he logged his 400th FM station via MS. I'm glad somebody has some empty frequencies. Our main email list at wtfda@googlegroups.com is very slow but the MW list at mwdx@googlegroups.com is going pretty strong, which is to be expected during the winter even though conditions haven't been all that good, especially for TA reception.

The cover photo last month of the KPNY tower came from the KPNY Facebook page. A request to use the picture was approved in minutes by the station via Facebook.

NEW SDR? Those of you interested in Software Defined Radios might want to check out the FDM-S1 and FDM-S2 SDR from Elad in Italy. This SDR covers 80khz to 30mhz but can be made to cover 88-108mhz or higher. A good link to check out is http://www.woodboxradio.com/fdm-s1.html where you can get quite a bit of information about it. Prices are shown in Euros but a recent look at the exchange rates show the S1 to be in the $500 range and the S2 in the $700 range, quite a bit less than a Perseus. There is a nice YouTube video of the unit in operation on FM. The YouTube link is http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ADkybK2Filw. I know of at least two members who are looking into the specs of this SDR at 88-108mhz. This one sounds very interesting.

And that's it for the February VUD. We'll be back again for March. Keep warm. -Mike

NEWS ITEM: The FCC reports the following totals for radio stations licensed as of December 31, 2013:

FM Commercial: 6612 FM Educational: 4019

FM Translators & Boosters: 6054

AM Stations: 4727 Total: 21,412

NEWS ITEM: In the November 2013 column, we relayed an item on KIMI 107.9 Humboldt, Nebraska (6.1 kW at 82 meters) having a CP to move to 107.7 with 50 kW at 124 meters from a new tower, plus a change in City-of-License to Sidney, Iowa. Because the new transmitter location being only 12 miles from Offutt AFB's Runway 30 Instrument Landing System on 109.5, the possibility existed to cause intermodulation interference to safe landings at the base. Now, KIMI has applied to change the request application to: City-of License to Malvern and ERP to 13 kW. This would eliminate to possibility of interference to the base. FCC action is next.

NEWS ITEM (TV):

Another follow-up: This item item appeared in the December FM News, which read:

"Turner Broadcasting System (TBS) has been fined $25,000 for using "Attention Signals" (tones) similar to those used for the national Emergency Broadcast System (EBS) for a promotion of the 'Conan' show. Although the tones weren't the exact pitch and sequence of the actual EAS signal, it consisted of "a dual tone sound that is substantially similar to the dual-tone EAS Attention Signal".

It appears TBS hasn't learned their lesson, because, now . . . The FCC says:

"For the second time in less than three months, the Federal Communications Commission has proposed fines against Turner Broadcasting System for transmitting advertisements that mimic the warning sounds used by the nationwide Emergency Alert System (EAS).

The EAS is a national public warning system that requires broadcasters, cable television operators, wireless cable operators, wireline video service providers, satellite digital audio radio service providers, and direct broadcast satellite providers to make it possible for the President of the United States to address the American public during a national emergency. Federal, state, and local authorities may also use the EAS to deliver important emergency information, such as Amber Alerts and weather information, like tornado warnings, targeted to specific areas.

The FCC has long prohibited the transmission of actual or simulated EAS Attention Signals or tones in circumstances other than a real alert or an authorized test of the EAS system. However, there has been a recent spike in consumer complaints.

The FCC's Enforcement Bureau initiated an investigation in response to multiple consumer complaints about a commercial on Turner's Adult Swim cable network. The complaints described a Best Buy advertisement promoting the release of an A$AP Rocky album. Turner provided a recording of the advertisement, review of which established that it included audio material that constitutes a simulation of the EAS tones.

In addition, during the Bureau's earlier investigation into Turner's misuse of the EAS sounds in a promotion for the Conan show, Turner represented to the Commission that it had changed its internal review practices after the first incident. Nevertheless, another Turner-owned channel, less than one year later, transmitted yet another commercial that used simulations of EAS sounds, doing so 14 times over a six-day period. A $200,000 Notice of Apparent Liability has therefore been issued to Turner Broadcasting System, Inc."

THE BEGINNING OF SCA?

May 1950

RAYMOND M. Wilmotte, consulting engineer of Washington, D. C., has filed a petition with the FCC requesting the amendment of the rules to permit every FM broadcast station to transmit two FM signals of different intensity within their allocated frequency band. The second signal is to be sufficiently weak that normal receiving sets are unaware that a second program or signal is being transmitted. A special receiver will be required to receive either program at will. Mr. Wilmotte points out that in the past it has been possible to receive an FM signal free from other FM signals because of differences in frequency, and that his work during the last few years has been on methods for separating FM signals because of differences in amplitude.

The new method of dual transmission has been given the name of "BISIGNAL", and provides the following:

- (a) Voice or Music. When both the strong and the weak signals are modulated by voice or music. operation has been achieved with substantially no cross talk and with an intensity ratio between the signals of ten to one. Ratios as high as one hundred to one have been used satisfactorily.
- (b) Control Signal. Special signals are being transmitted today by many FM stations in the form of supersonic "Beep" or pulse for controlling the intensity of the sound out of the receivers. In this direction, Mr. Wilmotte has been able to send similar control signals but has used the weaker of the two transmissions, so that the control signal is completely secret since it cannot be detected by a normal receiver. By this means three independent operations using the same number of tubes and simpler circuits than presently used in "Beep" systems can be controlled. Additional controlled operation can be obtained with relatively simple circuit additions.

The importance of this development lies in its ability to transmit an additional communication and hence would permit broadcasters to provide a number of services to be paid for by a rental or a subscription arrangement: such as programs fitted to minority tastes or special needs, and communication to mobile units. It would also provide "Beep" type of operation without danger of pirating.

LONG DISTANCE ES

JOHN B. SPENCER of Spencer's Radio Service, Savanna, Illinois, has written us about a new long-distance record for television reception.

On April 27th. John received perfect video and excellent sound reception from station RTVJ in Miami, Florida, a distance of approximately 1500 miles. He reports that between 7:10 and 8:40 p.m. (C.S.T.) reception was sufficiently good to permit the booster to he disconnected. An Admiral television receiver and an Amphenol stacked array 85 feet above ground were used in this instance. Mr. Spencer notes, however, that since his organization has been doing considerable research on the problems of fringe area reception, the installation had been made with the greatest care.

One of Mr. Spencer's most cherished mementoes is a letter from Earl W. Lewis, chief engineer of station WTVJ in Miami, in which Mr. Lewis states: "This is confirmation of your reception of our television programs on the evening of April 27th, 1949. Your letter and one from Indianapolis are the greatest distance we have heard from thus far. Thanks very much for your interesting letter and appreciate the interest shown in the reception of our station."

The Editor's Note

One of the colder winters in the last 20 years continues to rage onward in many locales east of the Mississippi, and as such a lack of DX continent-wide comes as no surprise. The winter Es season seems to be D.O.A., and even the southern Atlantic and Gulf coasts seem to be free of conditions favorable for tropo development. Early indicators are revealing no hints of any major thaws in the midwest or east coming around the corner in February, so hang in there. If your antenna elements have made it OK this far, they'll muster through another month or so of sub-zero wind chills.

In this edition of C2CTVDX, Danny Oglethorpe checks in with some late fall DX, including some impressive Mexican tropo, while Dennis Smith sends in the latest from where it never rains in Southern California (and where the temps sound pretty nice right about now!).

This report is from December 12, 2013 to January 6, 2014.

High air temps for the period have been quite steady at about 65F/18C to 75F/24C, and lows at 45F/7C to 50F/10C. Ocean water temp has also been quite steady at 57-58F/14C. There has been no rain here. On Dec 19-20, what little rain there was in the region went around us locally. It is too dry, with a fire danger. Across much of the USA and Canada, there is lots of rain and snow, and TOO COLD.

Distances are approximate. So-Calif tropo ducting to San Diego/Tijuana/Tecate from 175 mi/280 km up to 220 mi/350 km SE:

Dec 12 - 18 Var. poor/very poor Just a tad warmer

Dec 19 - 20 None Unsettled, rain in region

Dec 21 - 26 Var. very poor/poor High pressure, still cool

Dec27-Jan 6 Var. fair/poor High press, some warming

DX TELEVISION – THE POSSIBILITIES

RADIO AND TELEVISION NEWS A LONG TIME AGO

Wide-awake radio and appliance dealers, in areas not served by television transmitters, are using all sorts of beams, "gimmicks," and boosters which enable them to demonstrate video sets to their prospective future television set owners under "DX conditions."In cities such as Tucson and Phoenix, Arizona (not as yet served), there are many television sets providing excellent video reception from Los Angeles, Oklahoma City, and other stations at equal, or in some cases, greater distances. With the introduction of beam rotators to television set owners, the dealer has discovered the tremendous advantage of long-used beam techniques employed by the radio amateur.

We receive many confirmed reports of DX television reception. Some are the result of "freak conditions," and others can be attributed to a combination of a well-designed, multi-element beam, a tall mast or tower, a remote controlled rotator with indicator, and in many cases a television booster.

It seems to us that it would be highly profitable to many dealers in non-television areas, to study the possibilities of installing a television demonstration set in their store, provided they can receive at least one DX video station, and to start a bit of spade work in selling television to their future customers.

Even if these dealers fail to receive signals consistently, in many cases they will discover that at certain times of the day or evening they can present a satisfactory picture to their prospects. If they are successful, there is no surer way to get customers into the store than by this visual means. The dealer in a non-TV area must always remember that even though Mr. and Mrs. Smith have long read about television, very few have actually seen a program. If a DX program is received and produces a satisfactory picture for even a short period of time, it is a simple matter to explain intelligently, in simple terms, the conditions and limitations of a video signal. The very fact that you are able to receive all or part of a program is bound to impress your future prospects. Don't underestimate the prestige that goes with being first with something new. A little effort on your part to go after some DX television can be a powerful factor in creating good will and in bringing new and regular prospects to the display room. The investment is small compared to the tremendous impact such demonstrations may have on these viewers.

On a recent trip to the Southwest, we talked to several radio dealers who were waiting for television stations to be set up in their town or in the vicinity thereof. One, a very likeable chap, had a neat, well established shop on Main Street. An old 60-foot windmill tower, long abandoned, stood some 75 feet back of his store. This location was approximately 140 miles from the nearest television transmitter, which had been in operation for several months. We asked if he was contemplating the sale and maintenance of television receivers. His enthusiastic answer was, "Yes-but we aren't going to have it here for at least another year."

We cited several instances where other dealers had taken advantage of this so-called "DX television reception" and urged him to try it in his vicinity. He explained that he was quite busy but hoped to be able to give it a whirl by fall. Imagine our surprise when two weeks later, while passing through this same town, we spotted this very same tower upon which was mounted one of the latest television antennas, complete with rotator. Needless to say, we dropped in to find out if he had gone ahead with an installation of a television demonstrator. He had. He told us that the set had been in operation for a week, receiving programs from three scattered transmitters, and he was able to demonstrate each evening for periods of approximately two hours with good success.

Literally hundreds of towns throughout the United States are in spots equally well adapted for DX television reception. We feel that many dealers could profitably invest in a "Demo" receiver, instead of just being content to wait for television to come to their very door.

I'm traditionally a TV DXer, but thought I'd try my hand at FM this year. The Kenwood tuner I had lying around wasn't up to the task, so I got a Sony HD radio off eBay (now I'm spoiled). I also have a new Sangean ATS-909X I hope to put to work when e-skip starts up. Living in an apartment limits my antenna options, but the FM6 seems to work well enough in my second-story bedroom. It'll get a good test when trops pick up in a couple months. 73s. (Welcome aboard, Ryan! You're in a great location for Es and trops across the Gulf. – jz)
