This month I want to say welcome to Jordan Walsh. He lives on Long Island. Jordan emailed me recently and told me he really enjoyed reading the sample VUD found on the WTFDA website, and wanted to know if he was a good "fit" for the WTFDA. I wrote him back that if he really enjoyed reading it, then he's a perfect fit! You just have to be a DXer to like what's in it.

Also I'd like to say welcome back to George Mileon. George was a WTFDAer back in the day. I think that day was around 15 years ago. George resides in Duxbury, MA. It's nice to have you back again! Imagine how the Boston FM dial has changed in that time. I don't want to dwell on it. I'd just get a headache.

And this kitty on the left belongs to one John Jefferson (Madras, OR). The photo was included with his renewal. From the expression on this guy's face I don't think he's too happy to have his face on page two of a DX publication. I thought it ironic, though, since my wife and I just recently adopted a 2 year old (mostly) Russian Blue cat. Maybe since DX is so slow this time of year, we could run some photos of members' cats in the VUD, if enough of you live with one and I get enough photos.

This is Ryan's last issue as VUD publisher. I want to thank him for stepping up to help the club for the past four years. He did a great job with the digest. Not only does he work in TV in SW Florida, he's an author. I'm glad he could squeeze in the time to publish our monthly rag considering all the other things he does. Thanks Ryan! -Mike

KSTR-DT's conversion to an ATSC 3.0 "lighthouse" facility affects subchannels on several other stations. Co-owned KUVN will carry KSTR's UniMás stream on its current virtual channel 49.1. KTXD-TV will carry KSTR's getTV stream on current virtual channel 49.2; and KUVN will carry the Grit stream on current virtual channel 49.3. This leaves KUVN without enough bandwidth to carry its Laff stream; that will move to KTXD's transmitter, where it will remain on current virtual channel 23.4.

All this is a good reason for virtual channels. As long as viewers do a rescan, they will continue to punch in exactly the same channel number they did before the great transmitter swap. Without virtual channels, UniMás and Grit would move from channel 49 to channel 23, and then a few weeks later to 33. getTV & Laff would move from 49 to 46, and then a few weeks later, to 23.

Thanks to Raymie Humbert for information from Mexico, and to Glenn Hauser for information from Canada. Global TV proposes to close 44 transmitters, largely in British Columbia and the Maritimes. In Canada this action requires government approval. My gut feeling is approval will be granted.
