JUNE 2021

Mike Bugaj sends this month's list of renewals, and it's equally spread out, geographically:

Les Rayburn from AL, Larry Kenney and Dan Dankert from CA, Chris Dunne and Wally Dickson from FL, Rod O'Connor from ME, Jerry Bond from NY, Jon Klingerman and Owen P. Wood from PA, Fred Nordquist from SC, David Pierce and Lynn Burke from VA, David Hanson from TX — and four from NJ: Nick Langan, Kurt Nelson, Mike Hunter and Michael Temme-Soifer.

Glad to have you all staying on-board!

For the most part, no real complaints this May about any slow start to the season. It seems most of us have had a fairly active month. Scanning the WTFDA logger, three days would seem to stand out:

May 20 — Perhaps the most prolonged Es opening of the year for some of us in the east and midwest regions, with the action started just before noon EDT. Robert Ross in London ON and I compared logs, and while I was getting short-haul into IL (and other states a bit further out) he wasn't getting much of anything, perhaps too close to the skip cloud. A short while later, Robert was getting WI and MN and I was getting IA and NE. London ON and Burnt River ON are roughly 170 miles apart, so the lesson here is a relatively short distance can sometimes make a significant difference in results.

May 25 — The MUF didn't stay too high for many of us, but skip was highly multidirectional. Not a good day to hear K-Love or ESPN and hope to narrow down an option by determining a relatively identifiable skip zone. Within the space of an hour, Josh Moore in AR reported AB and NH on FM. Yours truly had MT, SC, MS and other states more or less simultaneously. The May 25 Es went late into the evening, and Rich Wertman in central NY managed his all-time short skip record, nailing 3/52 WGGN OH Sandusky. The short-hop carried over for Bill Coury in MI, who logged WKPN 89.3 RI Newport via Es for a new state on FM. Bill also reported 93.3 WSNE MA Taunton, soon followed by CO and NM. Around the same time, Andrew Knafel in OH had 2 in ME, Chris Lucas in upstate NY was hearing IA, and Mike Bugaj had MO, IL and WI. Nick Langan in NJ had WI, and Josh in AR was getting SK.

May 29 — I was a little late getting this to Mike tonight thanks to off and on skip to FL and the Gulf states today and this evening. Robert Ross managed Bahamas on 91.7. Others from down there, including Chris Dunne in FL, managed skip up into New England and the Great Lakes.

Other days have proven fruitful to many of you. FL and other southern DXers have had nice FM catches into Mexico and Latin America! Let's hope this continues to gain momentum. My head's still spinning from scanning through the WTFDA Logger, but all the details are in the archives for anyone who wants a blow-by-blow account of the skip season thus far. Take your laptop or even your smartphone to your next dentist's appointment and you might not mind a long'ish wait!

I've heard some of you yearn for a spam-free DX chat zone. Our WTFDA Forums are purpose-built for this, with multiple channels for topics as far flung as equipment and propagation modes. There's even ample room for posting IDed and unID audio and images for others to listen to and view. As one of our age-old club slogans goes, it's tough to beat!

Have comments, questions or ideas for the Forums or any other club offerings? I'm always happy to hear from you. Likewise if you want to offer up a comment, interesting logging or news for Mailbox. -Saul

EXPANDED FM IN BRAZIL

A post on an AM DX group on Facebook noted several Brazilian AM stations moving to frequencies between 77 and 85MHz. Somehow, I managed to miss news that Brazil had reallocated TV channels 5 and 6 for FM radio six years ago.

This reallocation can (and obviously does) fly in Brazil. It won't in the USA. Brazil doesn't use low-VHF channels 2-6 for digital television - but Brazilian telecasters still have UHF channels 38-51.

There are still fifty full-power stations in the 76-88MHz band in the USA. Stations in isolated parts of the West like KNOP (North Platte, Nebraska) and KYUS (Miles City, Montana) could probably find UHF spectrum. Stations in more populous areas (KWHY, Los Angeles; WPVI, Philadelphia) have nowhere else to go. I count nearly 600 low-power stations still operating in 76-88MHz.

An expanded FM band is not going to happen in the United States.

GO TEAM GO!:

The STA temporary stations are to be operated by Local Sports Radio during specific sporting events. (in two cases, teams' entire football seasons) These analog operations are to broadcast game information to fans at the stadiums.

TO DTV OR NOT TO DTV

Five of the Carlin, Nevada translators are considering converting to digital from a new site. No "paper"work has yet been filed to do so. The other three have filed to convert on new channels at their current sites.

Eleven LPTV permits in six states will be allowed to expire. The permits specify channels above 37, and the permittee has been unable to find suitable replacement channels below that figure.

FRANKENFM SURVIVAL?

"FrankenFMs" are low-power analog TV stations, assigned to channel 6 and broadcasting as radio stations. The aural carrier frequency of a channel 6 analog station is right below the FM band at 87.75MHz (+/- 0.01MHz). Due to a few loopholes, many of the transmission standards that applied to full-power analog TV stations do not apply to low-power stations. This makes it arguably legal for these stations to operate their aural carriers under the FM radio standards rather than the TV sound standards. (it also arguably makes it legal to operate these stations on 87.7 or 87.9MHz, instead of 87.75. 87.7 and, especially, 87.9 are more likely to be tuneable on FM radios.)

This is all supposed to go away on July 13th. On that date, the FCC will require all low-power TV stations to have converted to digital. Digital TV signals cannot be received on FM radios. (not even "HD" digital radios. The digital standard for radio is different from the one for TV.)

Several of these stations have proposed to leave their analog audio transmitter on the air after converting their video transmitters to digital. They argue that "notching" out the top of the digital TV channel leaves room for analog audio.

They're right on that account, and if they notch out enough they can probably broadcast an audio signal that's listenable on an FM radio. However, I would be VERY surprised if the resulting digital TV signal could be received on a TV set.

KBKF-LD San Jose is trying a slightly different tack. They're making the same argument - that they can notch out the top of their digital TV signal to make room for the analog audio. But KBKF's digital signal is in ATSC 3.0. I don't know as a fact that you will still have a decodeable ATSC 3.0 signal with the top 500KHz missing - but it's very possible this will in fact work. (The other concern I'd have is whether the ATSC 3.0 receiver will work with a big honking analog FM signal at the very edge of the channel - and well within the receiver's bandwidth.)

It will be interesting to see if this goes anywhere. My suspicion is it won't.
